Space is a terrible world that man does not know of its secrets except a few, and only he who deepens in the books of science can understand it. Space is full of mystery and secrets.

For outer space, it is not equal to a simple drop in the sea of this vast and vast universe, because the earth and everything in it is only a very small planet that is hardly mentioned in the Milky Way galaxy, and in outer space there are millions of galaxies, planets, stars, black holes, and other things that Little did people know about it.

موضوع عن الفضاء بالانجليزي

Man was created to explore the nature of his being, which constitutes only a small link in the vastness of outer space, and he tried hard to search for planets suitable for life other than planet Earth, and this dream continued to grow day after day, until man was able to send the first spaceship to outer space, and then he was able to land. On the surface of the moon, after which the trips to outer space continued, and the astronauts were able to know amazing information about outer space and the secrets in it, and despite that, science remains short of knowing all its mysteries, as outer space is like dreams that a person cannot explain even if they are Its events are interconnected, as there remains a missing link that no one knows except by God's command.

موضوع عن الفضاء بالانجليزي مختصر

God created the great universe, and made in it wonders and secrets that the mind can hardly expect, and all of which indicate His greatness and power, Glory be to Him. Outer space is not limited in its existence to planets, stars, meteorites, and black holes, but also includes the great void between these space bodies, and it is not a void in the literal sense. It contains many atoms, dust, and materials, and if the theories and assumptions reached by man are correct, this space is constantly expanding, and no one knows to what extent this expansion reaches except God Almighty, and man's attempts to discover it more and more are continuous and not stopping at a certain limit. Man was able to place many satellites and spacecraft in it to obtain information and carry out multiple space studies

موضوع تعبير عن الفضاء بالانجليزي

Space depicts the greatness of His creation, the Almighty, and it is the area that exceeds the Earth's atmosphere, and space consists of an infinite number of planets and dark celestial bodies, in addition to moons that do not shine by themselves but derive their light from the stars that circulate around them, and in there are many stars Which swim in outer space and planets revolve around it like the sun, and they are celestial bodies that radiate and illuminate by themselves, and all these planets, stars and moons flow in separate groups called galaxies, such as the Milky Way galaxy to which the planet Earth belongs.

Space is one of the things that preoccupied man the most, and aroused his curiosity. Perhaps Abbas Ibn Firnas' attempt to fly was the first attempt that embodied man's passion and curiosity towards knowing the universe, its secrets, mysteries, and its endless extension. Perhaps the most important thing that helped penetrate the atmosphere and reach space is the imagination of thinkers. And writers, who invented strange means of space exploration with their imaginations, and drew their own travels in space, trying to anticipate and explore the mysterious in it, as they expected the difficulties that astronauts might face in the outside world.

Perhaps one of the most prominent things that helped man discover the depth of space is his continuous attempts to launch drones carrying satellites that orbit the space paths around the planets and take pictures that enable scientists to watch the planets and learn about the components of space. And fifty-seven specifically, the launch of the Sputnik satellite, to be the first satellite to orbit the Earth at an altitude of thirty-six thousand kilometers, one cycle every twenty-four hours, and it was equipped with wireless transmitters that allow receiving messages to and from Earth.[\[1\]](#)
